News Briefs

As of March 17, Robert A. Derzon, Director of UCSF Hospitals and Clinics, has agreed to serve as a part-time consultant to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in the re-structuring of that agency which was announced by Secretary of HEW Joseph Califano. William Kerr will continue to direct the day-to-day patient care activities as administrator in charge of hospital operations at UCSF.

The week before, Mr. Derzon testified before the Senate Budget Committee on Health Care Costs with Senator Muskie presiding. He appeared with Stuart Altman, former official in the Department of Health Education and Welfare, who is now visiting professor at UC-Berkeley in the School of Public Policy.

Also on Cost Containment, Dean Julius Krevans and Regent William Coblentz both participated in a National Citizens Advisory Committee for the support of medical education which has just issued a national statement on "Cost Containment and the Reimbursement of Teaching Hospitals." The group served as an advisory committee to the American Association of Medical Colleges.

Hundreds of letters with donations are pouring into the Cancer Research Institute of UCSF in memory of Joe Roth, UC-Berkeley quarterback who died February 19 of cancer. At the request of the family, memorial contributions will establish the "Joe Roth Melanoma Research Fund" at UCSF. Melanoma is the form of cancer that struck Roth. As of now, nearly $17,000 has been received from people all over the country who were moved by the football player's death, according to a Cancer Research Institute spokesman. Letters have come in from alumni, football fans, classmates and young people who found inspiration in Joe Roth. One youngster took a three-week advance on her allowance to send $4.50 in his memory. Contributions can still be sent to the Joe Roth Melanoma Research Fund, 1282 Moffitt.

George A. Evanoff has been appointed Vice-Chancellor of Personnel and Student Services at UCSF, it was announced by Chancellor Francis A. Sooy. The appointment was approved by the Regents at their meeting on the UCSF campus Friday, March 18. Evanoff, who is 47, is widely respected for his expertise in University personnel management. He has been Personnel Director at the University of Arizona-Tucson since 1973. Prior to that he spent five years as Director of Personnel at Illinois State University, and three years in a similar position at Southern Illinois University. He also has held managerial positions with two major corporations, Westinghouse Electric and Olin-Mathison Chemical of Illinois.

Evanoff will assume his new duties April 1. He replaces former Vice-Chancellor Charles Harlins, who resigned in May of 1975 due to illness. As Vice-Chancellor, Evanoff will be responsible for the implementation and direction of UC personnel policy on this campus in the areas of staff personnel and student services.

A new Reproductive Endocrinology Center for UCSF was approved by the UC Regents at a recent meeting. Funds for the research center will come from the National Institutes of Health and the Rockefeller, Cowell and Packard Foundations. Center director is Robert B. Jaffe, chairman and professor of obstetrics, gynecology and reproductive sciences.

Names of faculty members, students, and staff employees of UCSF who have performed outstanding service to the campus community at large are eligible for receipt of the Chancellor's Award for Public Service. The awards are given to individuals who have performed outstanding service beyond the scope of their normal job duties. Recommendations are now being accepted. The deadline is April 1.

Three awards are made each year, two for $500 and one, which has been designated the "Thomas N. Burbridge Public Service Award," for $600, $100 being given by the Black Caucus. Candidates for the Burbridge Award should demonstrate particular contributions to equal education and employment opportunity and to social justice.

The awards will be presented at a ceremony honoring the recipients during June, 1977. Recommendation requirements are as follows: 1. Candidates for the award must be recommended by someone from UCSF (faculty member, student, or staff employee), although individuals who are not members of the campus community can verify a candidate's application (see number 3). 2. All recommendations of candidates for the award must include a description of the candidate's current community activities, particularly the activity or service for which he or she is being nominated. Community activities can include campus oriented activities. 3. All recommendations must include the signatures, addresses, telephone numbers, and affiliations of three individuals who can attest to the candidate's contributions.

An endowment fund has been created with an initial contribution of $100,000 by Saul and Ida Epstein, prominent Los Angeles civic leaders, for research to develop a device called a "cochlear implant," that may restore hearing to some deaf patients. The research involves an electronic device that stimulates auditory nerves. It is still in its trial stage and is not expected to be ready for implantation in patients for another six months to a year. At that time, UCSF scientists hope to place this small stimulator - about the size of a quarter - and its electrodes in the ears of those profoundly deaf patients who have retained enough nerve fibers to convey sound.

The U.S. has about 300,000 deaf people for whom conventional hearing aids are useless. The UCSF project may offer hope to the 20 or 25% of this group whose auditory nerves are still sensitive to electrical stimulation. Robert A. Schindler, Assistant Professor of Otolaryngology (ear, nose and throat), Michael M. Merzenich, Associate Professor of Physiology, and Robin P. Michelson, Clinical Professor of Otolaryngology, have successfully implanted the device in the ears of experimental animals.

The Epstein funds will build an electronmicroscopy laboratory, under the direction of Dr. Schindler, to further the artificial implant project. By projecting electron beams, the electronmicroscope can image miniscule areas of the inner ear to detect tissue changes. The Epsteins are founders of the Los Angeles Music Center and contributors to the West Alumni Center and the Pauley Pavilion, the athletic complex at UCLA, Mr. Epstein's alma mater.

Thena Trygstad recently was named Assistant Chancellor announced Chancellor Francis A. Sooy, M.D. The change in title reflects added responsibilities and involvement in campus administration which has occurred in the past year, he declared. Mrs. Trygstad began working on this campus twenty years ago when she started washing glassware in the UCSF laboratories. She then worked in Outpatients Clinics and supervised the Central Appointment desk for several years before joining the Chancellor's office staff in 1962. She worked for Vice-Chancellor Erickson for 10 years then returned to the Chancellor's office as Assistant to the Chancellor in 1973.

Deadline for the next issue of Today/Tomorrow which will cover the events from April 9-22 will be March 29, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News Services Department, 1475 4th Ave.
